The 1962 Memories

Presented by
THE SENIOR CLASS
LIBERTY CENTER SCHOOL
Liberty Center, Indiana

Memories are

. . . our school, where we have spent so many impressive days, working, playing, and learning together. Our school, too, where we have found inspiration, guidance, and a foundation for a better way of life.

. . . our hope, as graduating seniors, that this annual will become one of your most prized possessions and that in later years, while turning these pages, you will recall the many smiles, sorrows, and dreams of '62. Thus we present to you, the 1962 "Memories."

. . . alert and active administration

Engrossed in a telephone conversation, Mr. John C. Talarico, principal, checks on arrangements for one of the school's many activities. He has been serving the township as principal for four years.

Pictured is Mr. J. M. Benson as he was leaving the school. For the first half of the year, Mr. Benson served as county superintendent.

Upon resignation of Mr. Benson, Mr. Lloyd Biberstine took over the position as superintendent to the four southern townships. Mr. Biberstine became a familiar sight around Liberty Center and is pictured leaving the principal's office. Smiling happily is Mr. Glen Dunn, trustee for Liberty township for the past four years. This picture was taken after he had delivered pay checks, a duty the teachers like.

and waiting for May 7 — Graduation

. . . busy Jrs. working on class projects

Busy is a very appropriate description of the juniors. During the year, they conducted class projects including the sale of magazines, concessions, and a sock hop.

. . . Freshmen fighting for recognition

As newcomers to high school, the freshmen found themselves faced with bigger decisions and had to work hard as they started four years of class projects.

Shown here, the freshman female class officers, Sonja Cardin, treasurer; Marcia McElhaney, vice-president; Sue Funk, news reporter; and Erma Buse, secretary, take time to read the cafeteria menu to Mr. Bill Bussel, class sponsor, while the "lone" male officer, Randy Raber, president, sneaks away for a drink.

ROW 1: Erma Buse, Donna Campbell, Sonja Cardin, Barbara Chism, John Collins, Philip Dawson, ROW 2: Linda Dunn, Barbara Flowers, Sue Funk, Kenny Hannah, Jane Jarrett, Linda Jones, ROW 3: Karol Kirtley, Bobbie Klefeker, Marcia McElhaney, Judi Niblick, Randy Raber, Judy Smith, Jeff Stinson.

ROW 3: Cindy Harris, Kenny Huffman, Carol Leiter, Cynthia McElhaney, Jerome Markley, Marcia Melton, ROW 4: Dorothy Millington, Delice Snyder, Bob Vice, Hank Woodard.

. . . seventh graders rushing to class

Mrs. Brenda Payne, sponsor, directs the officers, Jim Burkholder, president; Ken Scott, secretary-treasurer; Sid Raber, vice-president; and Cheryl Snyder, news reporter, in their housework.

ROW 1: Shelvia Basey, Jim Burkholder, Linda Campbell, Mike Coleman, Kent Day, Mary Dolby, ROW 2: Paul Dolby, Jerry Dulworth, Tom Fagan, Kenny Flowers, Eric Funk, Wanda Grogg, Dave Hall,

. . . the daily happenings

Approximately nine times a day for five days a week this is a very familiar sight. The beginning and end of each period is announced by a buzzer-bell combination located in each classroom. The students are allowed from 2 1/2 to 5 minutes to change classes. As shown in the picture, this allows plenty of time to stop by the water fountain and the bulletin board.

This picture might well be labeled "Cafeteria Clamor." For an hour each school day, the place is in full swing, as students from all 12 grades enjoy a break from studying, get their fill of food, and discuss the problems of the day.

The majority of the upper six grades may be found right here in the study hall at noon. It just seems to be the perfect time to let loose and cut up just a little. In the corner by the windows are the seniors in their usual gathering place while the sophomores and freshmen occupy the other side of the room.

. . . sixth graders preparing for Jr. High

The sixth graders are putting on their coats, getting ready for recess, an important part of their day.

ROW 1: Sue Armantrout, Bob Bailey, Marvin Biberstine, Lana Buse, Steve Clark, ROW 2: Kay Cunningham, Gary Dawson, Kris Dunn, Nancee Engle, Rosemary Flowers, Colleen Galloway, ROW 3: Peggy Gerwig, Dennis Grover, Richard Hannah, Jill Kober, Cammy Lieurance, Gloria Mazelin,

. . . fifth graders staging puppet shows

Fifth grade students set up the stage for a puppet show while Mrs. Violet Brane does the directing.

. . . fourth graders caring for flowers

The fourth grade students under the guidance of their teacher, Mrs. Francis Clark, learned to appreciate nature through growing and caring for flowers and vines in their classroom.

ROW 1: William Alford, Dennis Armantrout, Kandy Booher,
ROW 2: Ricky Burdge, Cynthia Campbell, Brent Cardin, David Cole, Joe Collins, Joyce Day, Judy Dulworth, Trudi Dunn,

These thirsty third graders enjoy a glass of milk after recess as Mrs. Flora Kirtley supervises the purchase.

ROW 1: Steven Bumgarner, Dennis Campbell, Tamera Campbell, Bruce Dawson, David Dolby, Barbara Dulworth, Nicholas Dunn, Annette Fagan, ROW 2: Paulette Fagan, Laurie Garrett, Connie Gavin, Dean Grogg, Darrel Grover, Ruby Habeggar, Susan Inskeep, Jo Ellen Jacobs,
ROW 3: Michael Jones, Bruce Klefeker, Judith Kober, Gregory Leiter, David Masterson, Randall Mossburg, Roger Mygrant, Richard Niblick, ROW 4: Cheryl Studebaker, Tommy Surbaugh, Deborah Thompson, Bruce Vaughn, Otis Vaughn, Anita Velasquez, Antonia Velasquez, Roger Westfall.

. . . active second graders choosing books

Encouraged by Mrs. Donna Simpson, the second graders gain interest in reading by selecting their own reading material from their room library.

ROW 1: Linda Alford, Terry Arnold, Lu Ann Bailey,
ROW 2: Joe Campbell, Ronnie Campbell, Tim Cassiday, Debbie Clark, Jimmy Fields, Jim Frantz, Dena Ginger, Ervin Glass,
ROW 3: Marsha Grover, Deretha Hale, Linda Harness, Dale Martin, Ralph Matchett, Elaine Mazelin, Max Melton, Carol Ann Mowery,
ROW 4: Tom Pace, Richard Penrod, Debbie Redding, William Schortgen, Kathy Stinson, Carol Studebaker, Gary Stroud, Diana Surbaugh,

. . . timid first graders learning to read

ROW 1: Debra Booher, Michael Bumgarner, Rebecca Cassiday, Deborah Collins, James Dulworth, David Foreman, Michele Garrett, ROW 2: John Goodwin, Sandra Harris, Valorie Hernandez, Cynthia Highlen, Michael Huffman, Steven Klefeker, Debra Masterson,
ROW 3: Dennis Mazelin, Cynthia Mossburg, Dale Morgan, Russell Murray, Frederick Niblick, Cynthia Lou Sills, Debra Ann Stinson, ROW 4: Donna Strahm, Karen Jo Stroud, Marsha Souers, Athena Sullivan, Brenda Sue Vice, Jack Vaughn, Leslie Vaughn.

Learning to read under the direction of Mrs. Lenna Rittenhouse was one of the first accomplishments of 28 first graders.

. . . with the

With book reports due, freshmen Sonja Cardin, Bobbie Klefeker, Jeff Stinson, Karol Kirtley, and Randy Raber receive instructions from Mrs. Payne.

Holding a Bachelor of Science Degree, Mrs. Brenda Payne began her teaching career at Liberty Center this school year. She graduated from Ball State Teachers College in 1961 with a major in language arts and a minor in history.

Mrs. Payne teaches English in grades eight through twelve, serves as newspaper and annual advisor, and sponsors the seventh grade.

Mrs. Payne prepares to present one of her classes with a reading assignment in literature.

Mrs. Payne and some of the seniors look over newspapers and annuals as they begin work on their journalism projects, editing the "Liberty Bell" and the "Memories."

Knowledge

A Bachelor of Music Degree and a Masters of Music Degree were awarded in 1958 and 1961 respectively to Mr. William Hernandez. Upon graduation from the Chicago Conservatory College of Music, he had a major in music and a minor in English. Three of his five years of teaching have been spent at Liberty Center where he directs band and chorus, and teaches seventh grade English.

Seventh graders Sid Raber and Shelvia Basey name the parts of speech in the sentence as Mr. Hernandez keeps a close check.

Taking time out to help the band members personally, Mr. Hernandez clears up a rhythm problem for the drummers.

Practice! Practice! Practice! Here Mr. Hernandez directs the band in one of its daily rehearsals. Seventh period each day is devoted to just such a rehearsal.

we gain from our teachers

Mrs. Metz directs Jerome Markley, Richard Armantrout, Dorothy Millington, and Delice Snyder, eighth grade students, in the location of a country on the globe as they begin their study of weather and climate.

Mrs. Mable Metz, with a total teaching career of 28 years, has spent 10 of those years at Liberty Center. She has over 5 1/2 years of college training from Manchester College, Marion College, Purdue University, Indiana University, The University of Michigan, and Yale Traffic School.

Here Mrs. Metz finds the blackboard a big help to her as she explains some of the basic laws of geometry to the sophomore geometry class.

Mr. James Roush has spent seven of his nine years of teaching at Liberty Center where he conducts classes in agriculture and science, his college majors. He holds a Bachelor of Science Degree from Purdue University and a Masters of Art Degree from Ball State Teachers College.

The sophomore agriculture boys, under Mr. Roush's guidance, begin a study of the various cuts of meat with the charts picturing these cuts.

Besides serving as a teacher Mr. Roush acts as advisor to the Future Farmers of America and as adult boys' 4-H Leader. Adult classes are also conducted by Mr. Roush each Tuesday evening at the school where they learn about welding and similar arts.

Erma Buse, Judi Niblick, and John Collins, Freshman biology students, look on alertly as Mr. Roush begins an experiment.

Mrs. Bussel shows three history students from the Junior Class how to locate a certain country on the globe.

Mrs. Anna Bussel has been teaching at Liberty Center her entire teaching career of four years. She graduated from Ball State Teachers College in 1958 with a Bachelor of Science Degree and a major in social science and a minor in home economics. Besides serving the school as a teacher, she acts as advisor to the Future Homemakers of America and as adult leader to the girls' 4-H Club.

As the cheerleaders' advisor, Mrs. Bussel, inspects one of the newly purchased skirts.

Mr. John C. Talarico holds a Bachelor of Science Degree from Manchester and a Master of Arts Degree from Ball State Teachers College which were awarded to him in 1953 and 1957 respectively. His college major was in social studies and his minor was in English. Seven of his nine years of teaching have been spent at Liberty Center and he has served as principal for four of those years.

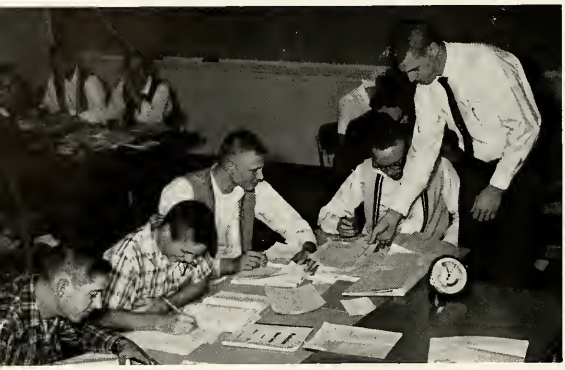
Guidance work is included in Mr. Talarico's schedule, also. Here he helps freshman Sue Funk with the selection of her high school subjects and talks over the cost of college versus the good gained from a college education. He helps many such students select the proper school curriculum to suit their plans for the future.

Mr. Talarico also teaches a class in sociology. Here seniors Kahlia Reece, Rex Brinneman, and Jim Grover receive their textbooks to be used for the class.

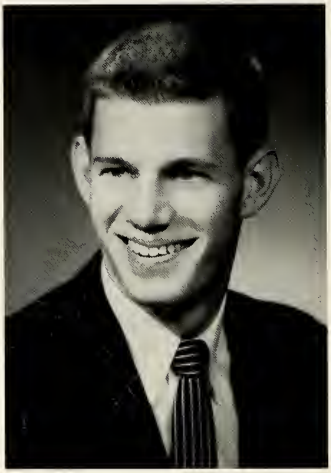
As principal Mr. Talarico must keep records of attendance and enrollment, make state reports, fill our forms of recommendation, set up the school calendar and schedule, coordinate school activities such as basketball with activities of the community and with other organizations, and take care of discipline problems referred to the office.

As guidance director he works to aid the student in the selection of his courses and the furtherment of his education.

on through more schooling



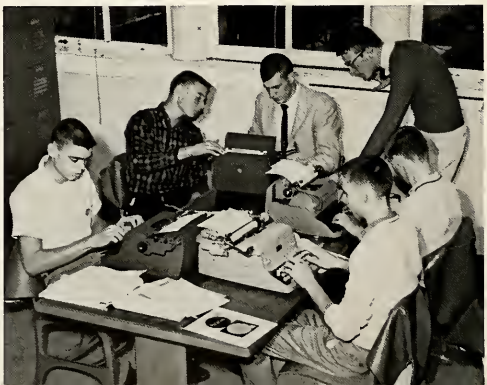
Mr. Butt takes time to explain a problem to Bill Kirtley and Larry Lieurance while Junior Brenton and Richard Frantz begin work on a new bookkeeping project.



Mr. Richard Butt holds a Bachelor of Science Degree from Manchester College which was awarded him in 1958. His entire teaching career of four years has been spent at Liberty Center where he serves as varsity coach, secretary-treasurer, and teaches commercial classes.

Counting money is one of the many tasks Mr. Butt performs. Since he serves the school as treasurer, he gets to hold a lot of money, a job he surely must enjoy.

A broken typewriter gets special attention from Mr. Butt as he demonstrates to Bruce Stanton and Ron Leiter how they can be typewriter repairmen for those minor break-downs. Meanwhile Dick Harris, Jim Harris, and Danny Archbold continue typing their lesson, completely unconcerned with Bruce's problems.



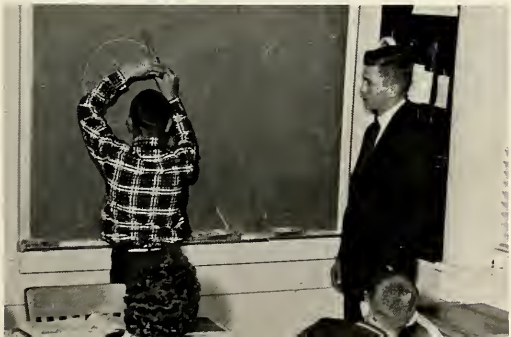
and life

Holding a Bachelor of Science Degree from Ball State Teachers College, Mr. William Bussel has been teaching at Liberty Center three out of his four years of teaching. Upon his college graduation in 1958 he held two majors in social science and physical education. He coaches the "B" team and teaches junior high.

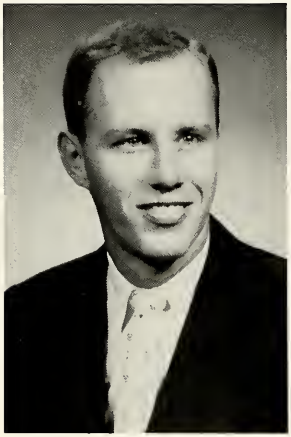
With a doubtful, worried look on his face, Mr. Bussel jumps to his feet during one of the second team games. Evidently the action at the other end of the floor had become quite interesting.

With little trouble Mike Harris points out the country of Spain to his fellow classmates in seventh grade history class.

Under the watchful eye of Mr. Bussel and the rest of the class, Jerry Arnold attempts to construct, on the blackboard, a circle which will be used in solving an area problem.



. . . the elementary teachers

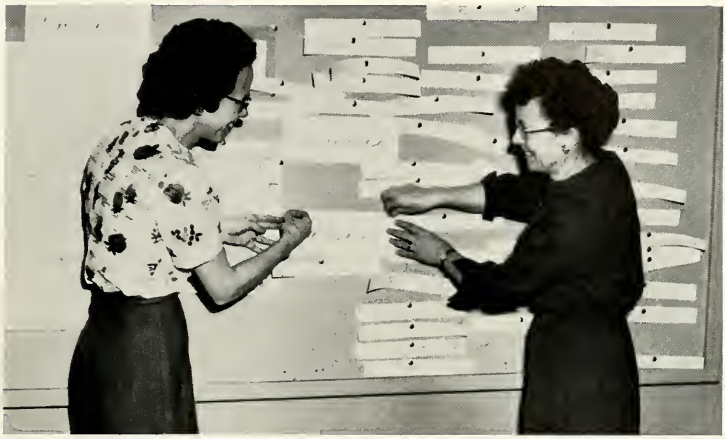


Mr. Wayne Yager has completed his sixth year of teaching experience with his first year at Liberty Center. A Bachelor of Science Degree was awarded him upon graduation from Manchester College in 1956. Besides serving as a teacher to the sixth graders, he coaches the fifth and sixth grade basketball team.

Mrs. Brane and Mr. Yager examine closely some of the books in the sixth grade library. There is just such a library in each classroom which is kept supplied by the Bluffton Public Library.

Mrs. Violet Brane received a Bachelor of Science Degree from Goshen College in 1950 where she specialized in elementary teaching. Out of her 25 years of teaching experience five years have been spent at Liberty Center.

teaching their young pupils



Mrs. Clark helps Mrs. Kirtley arrange her bulletin board as the third graders begin studying the United States of America. Each six weeks a new display is put on the bulletin board by each class.

Holding a license in intermediate grammar from Ball State Teachers College, Mrs. Francis Clark has been teaching at Liberty Center 10 years. She serves as teacher to the fourth grade.

Mrs. Flora Kirtley, third grade teacher, has been at Liberty Center for the past six years. She graduated from Peru High School and attended State Normal University, Illinois. Mrs. Kirtley has also been working very hard on her degree.

'readin', 'ritin', and 'rithmetic'

Mrs. Rittenhouse is showing Mrs. Simpson one of the books used in her class. When comparing notes, the teachers are able to exchange teaching ideas and experiences. By the two apples on Mrs. Simpson's desk, it appears she has gained favor with her students.

Mrs. Donna Simpson has completed her eighth year at Liberty Center. She attended school at North Manchester College and Ball State Teachers College and received her Bachelor of Science Degree in 1961.

Mrs. Lenna Rittenhouse, first grade teacher, holds a Bachelor of Science Degree from Marion College awarded to her in 1950. A total of 15 years have been spent by her at Liberty Center.

. . . and the lessons in playing together.

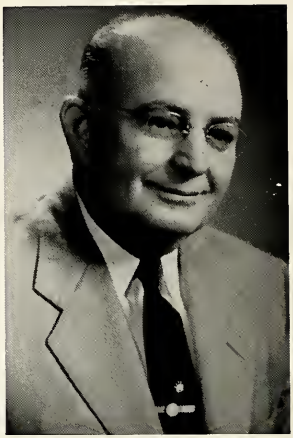
Recess was always such a good time to let out some of that excess energy which we had stored up during school hours. Shown are the lively third graders rushing through the doors to enjoy the twenty minutes of laughter and fun which goes with every recess.

The new playground equipment, which was placed behind the gymnasium for safety precaution during the summer, provided many hours of fun for the little gradesters. Recess period was also a time when good sportsmanship and citizenship were taught to the young children by the teachers.

A refreshing drink always tasted good following an active recess. First, second, and third graders are shown getting their drink before returning to another class.

. . . school help — often forgotten heroes

Relaxing after delivering over 300 students to the "school of learning" are our five bus drivers. Standing are Orville Gerwig, Pat Garrett, and Orin Bowman and kneeling are Boyd Cardin and Ben Soper.



As driver instructor, Mr. Eldon Carnes taught many students the techniques of good driving.

Janitors Mount and Ada Garrett make a final cleaning of the water fountain before ending another day of care for the schoolhouse.

Cooks Doris Dunnaway and Dorma Haiflich receive plenty of help from high school students who have volunteered to serve in some job at the cafeteria. Pictured are Sara Jane Holloway, Bill Day, Ron Oswalt, Jim Harris, Bruce Stanton, and Bill Kirtley, giving a helping hand at the lunch period.

spirit to school events

All the hard work and worry finally paid off for the "Lionettes." For over a year the band had been working steadily to raise the money for new uniforms. Then on September 11, Mr. William Hernandez, band director, and Mr. Rinear Funk, P. T. A. president, drove to Cincinnati to pick up the new uniforms so they could be worn in the fair festivities that month. The uniforms follow a new style whereby the basic color is the neutral color gray, and the school colors are carried out in the braid and trim on them. The twirlers' uniforms are white with gold buttons and braid. Four appearances were made by the band in the Bluffton Street Fair in September. Halloween found the "Lionettes" in action at Berne and they provided entertainment at the 4 Way Tourney.

MAJORETTES: Linda Dunn, Karol Kirtley, Judi Niblick, Nancy Klefeker, and Bobbie Klefeker.

Not only did these girls lead the band at parades but they provided entertainment at basketball games by performing various, original routines at halftimes.

. . . relaxation through music

Members of the high school chorus, Judy Smith, Barbara Chism, Marcia McElhaney, Sue Funk, Erma Buse, Chris Hall, Ilene Mann, Carolyn Biberstein, Kahlia Reece, Judi Niblick, and Barbara Baublet, gather around the piano as Karen Soper gives them their starting note.

A girl becomes eligible for membership in the Girls' Athletic Association when she enters the seventh grade. Through activities in her physical education classes and outside activities, she is able to earn points. After the first year of completion in GAA and payment of dues, she receives a first year pin. Earning 1000 points entitles her to a letter and four completed years of membership is acknowledged by a pin with guard. After four years, Honorary Membership is awarded.

Tallying up the score sheets, the GAA officers Becky Bulger, treasurer; Carolyn Leist, secretary-reporter; Karol Kirtley, president; and Linda Dunn, vice-president, take time to enjoy a chat with Mrs. Metz, sponsor.

. . . preparation for a future

The F. H. A. officers, Ilene Mann, historian; Chris Hall, treasurer; Kahlia Reece, recreation leader; Carolyn Biberstein, secretary; Karen Soper, president; Char Sellers, editor; and Cindy Raber, vice-president; under the watchful eye of Mrs. Anna Bussel, sponsor, perform one of the more common duties of a future homemaker.

Pictured here are the officers of the Boys' 4-H Club, Bill Kirtley, news reporter; Larry Lieurance, vice-president; Bruce McClurg, secretary; and Cindy Raber, health and safety leader; as they look over one of the farming magazines made available to them by the sponsor, Mr. Roush.

The Junior-Senior Class Play for 1961 involved twelve characters which are shown here with the two student directors, K. Reece and R. Brinneman.

The class play for 1961 was GRANDAD GOES WILD. The play involved Grandad and a tramp, Hooley, who were going to make a fortune from their rattrap invention. Distinguished guests arrived at the old man's home to visit his daughter and then confusion occurs. The tramp really was swindling Grandad's savings. The mystery-comedy was full of suspense to the very end.

YOU'LL DIE LAUGHING was the mystery-comedy presented in 1962. It involved a college boy, Kim, who went to an old farmhouse as an heir to the deceased owner and his stuttering friend, Tommy, who loved horror shows. Ghosts appeared, the maid died laughing and a valuable gem disappeared. In the end, the gag was uncovered. All the heirs and ghosts were members of the college drama class and were trying to scare Tommy into not going to the movies. The surprise ending was very suspenseful and humorous.

. . . comical Junior-Senior Class Plays

Play practices, which were held nearly every evening, meant a lot of fun for the characters that were doing so much work getting ready for each production.

The Senior Class sold 150 yearbooks in the subscription drive and approximately $700 in advertisements. After four laboring months the final yearbook pages were sent to the publishing company.

The school newspaper, The Liberty Bell, was published by the Senior Class eight times throughout the school year. Each issue of the paper took approximately one month to have stories written and to receive the paper from the printery. Circulation of the school paper reached 350 during the school year.

The cheer block is shown in action at one of the away games. The attendance then was almost as high as it was at home games. Evidently the action under the basket has become quite exciting, and the fans are making sure they don't miss a thing.

urging them on to victory

Toward the end of the season, pep sessions became almost a weekly occurrence. This picture was taken at one of these pep sessions held in the assembly on the day before the Ossian-Liberty game. When asked to stand up and holler, the fans did. A portion of the upper six grades is shown as they yell, "Yea, Rah, Liberty!"

Liberty Center was able to boast a Pep Club membership of 60. At games, nearly 80 sat in the cheer block to boost their Lions. For some of the away games and for tourneys, the members wore white blouses, sweaters, or shirts. Throughout the year, new yells were introduced by the cheerleaders, learned quickly by the Pep Club, and delivered effectively at the ballgames. Pep sessions were held regularly for the purpose of perfecting all yells and molding the Pep Club into a smooth-functioning organization. Kahlia Reece served as president. It was her duty to keep a record of attendance for each member. This established the basis on which awards were given to members at the close of the ball season. Besides being able to boast about the Lions, L. C. can boast about their Pep Club and fans.

Liberty students never realized the talented ballplayers they had until this "turn-about pep session." As pictured Bill Thompson and Larry Lieurance donned skirts and wigs to lead the pep club in yells while the cheerleaders, dressed in warm-ups, played four teachers, representing future opponents, in a game refereed by Bob Harris and Bob Clark, complete with dark glasses and tin cups. The final score was 104 to 2, favor of the "Lions."

. . . F.H.A. — F.F.A. fun and frolic

At the 1961 FHA-FFA Spring Dance, Jean Buse crowns Cindy Raber as FHA queen.

No, the FFA isn't recruiting girls into their organization. It's rough initiation time for John Collins, Jeff Stinson, Kenny Hannah, and Randy Raber. For one whole day these "fellows" carried their books in cans and upon sight of one of their superiors, gave eloquent speeches.

Stepping high at the Bluffton Free Street Fair are the "Lionettes" as they make one of their five appearances there. The special day is "Kids' Day" and the band leads the parade of Liberty Center students.

The FHA girls also had to undergo rough initiation. They are shown here wearing the outfits and hair-dos styled for them by the senior girls. Although they dress like this for just one day, a week is devoted to their complete initiation.

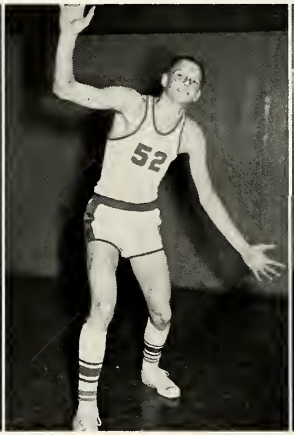
Bob Harris, 6'3" senior forward, led the team in total points scored and became outstanding in the rebounding and foul shooting department.



Larry Lieurance, 6'3" senior center, became an outstanding rebounder and attained great accuracy in his shooting skill.

Kenny Kirtley, 5'10" senior forward, became an excellent defensive man and recovered many rebounds which helped the fighting Lion cause.

Dick Harris, 6'3" sophomore forward, played his first year on the varsity and became a starter by the end of the basketball season.

Bill Thompson, 5'9" junior guard, became noted for his good ball control and his last second shots which won games.

Denny Archbold, 5'7" sophomore guard, gained much experience in ball control and in shooting in his first year of varsity basketball.

Bob Clark, 5'11" senior guard, was noted for his fast ball handling and his accurate left-handed jump shots.

Coach Richard Butt, in his third year as varsity coach, built his team into one of the best ball clubs every to come from Liberty Center. Shortly before the County Tournament, Coach Butt was named as the Area Coach of the Week for Northeastern Indiana because of his team's undefeated record which had extended to 12 before defeat.

Junior Ron Heron, shown packing away suits, served his first year as student manager for the basketball and baseball teams.

LIBERTY COPS 4-WAY

The 4-Way Tourney began on December 4 with Liberty Center trouncing winless Roll, 76-44, and Chester Center defeating Petroleum, 67-49. In the night game, consolation honors went to Petroleum as they edged Roll, 58-55. In the championship game, the Lions won in overtime against Chester, 46-44, on a shot by the guard, Bill Thompson, near the end of the overtime.

Coach Bussel's "B" team had an average season this year. Although the team was handicapped by the lack of bench strength, they played some very excellent basketball.

Cheerleaders Bobbie Jean Klefeker and Karol Kirtley supported the "B" team with much enthusiasm throughout the entire year.

. . . cheerleader enthusiasm

"Two bits, four bits, six bits, a dollar, all for Liberty stand up and holler!" And holler they did. With the team holding such a good record, the cheerleaders found the fans ready and willing to support the Lions. Parents and students alike gave their full cooperation and assistance. Tourneys found an attendance of 80 in the Lions' cheer block - 80 who yelled with the enthusiasm of twice that many.

Cindy and Karen were welcomed back for their third consecutive year as high school cheerleaders. Bobbie and Karol, both freshmen, were new to the yelling squad but soon got into the "swing" of things. Although the two groups yelled separately for season games, they combined at tourney time to yell as a group of four.

Cindy Raber and Karen Soper strike a familiar pose as they get ready to lead the pep club in a yell of encouragement.
